

Care Coordination Improves Women's Health

- Health plans partner with community organizations to initiate navigator programs for women experiencing abnormal mammograms, which helps women ensure they receive the appropriate medical response and follow-up
- Health plans partner with transportation providers to arrange rides for pregnant women to their appointments, which saves time and promotes adherence to care plans
- Health plans have dedicated staff to reviewing women's health issues, which builds bridges to substance use disorder service providers, community resources and support groups, preventative care services, and wellness programs
